- Accepted participants will have to commit to AFSC's behavior guidelines such as non-violence, respectful communication to participants, instructors and volunteers, and anyone else involved in the contest; avoid use of electronic devices unless necessary during the training/meeting sessions and for training/meeting sessions or to contact their parent(s) for important matters: illness, transportation needs, unforeseen emergencies.
- AFSC/IVP recommends that participants refrain from using any background music in their video or graphics that are not their original work to avoid any copyright liabilities. If a participant chooses to use his/her original composition played by the participant as well, this could be accepted as long as there is no offensive language used at all in the case of lyrics.
- Participants are forbidden from sending any inappropriate verbal or text messages to anyone involved in the Video Contest or to AFSC staff or any other person associated with the contest.
- Paid staff of AFSC and their immediate family members are excluded from participating in this video contest.

- Paid staff of AFSC and immediate family members of participants are excluded from participating in the judging panel.
- There will be two categories of videos being judged by one judging panel composed of an uneven number of jurors: a) five junior semifinalists (ages 16-20), and b) five senior semifinalists (ages 21-26) from where the three finalist videos will be selected by the judging panel.
- There will be an opportunity for a peer review of the semifinalist videos from one group to the other. AFSC will issue a peer finalist certificate to the three finalists chosen by their peers, independently of the judging panel's decision.
- The videos will be mostly judged by the power of the story and the way it was told, including the creativity of the video, and secondly by the quality of the overall product.
- The minimum video quality has to be at or above 640 x 434 pixels (most phones, tablets, and video-cameras have above); suggested ratio would be 1,024 x 695. However, the resolution level of the video will not be a determinant factor for the judging panel; these are only suggested minimums for a good viewing quality of your video.
- Videos that go beyond 5 exact minutes will be automatically disqualified.
- If the contest participant fails to attend more than one of the three required training sessions for a non-justified reason such as serious illness (proof will be required), even if he/she was a finalist, his/her video will be disqualified and his/her place will be given to the next finalist with the closest points to that participant's qualifying card.
- Members of the judging panel will be required to excuse themselves from judging a particular video if they find out at the last minute that this would represent a conflict of interests; for instance: the participant's video is from a close family friend, a student, neighbor, etc. A backup juror will take the place of that juror for purposes of judging the video that may pose a conflict of interests.
- If any issue arises which is not here considered, it will be addressed by the video-contest advisory committee and/or the Iowa Program Committee within ten days from the time AFSC/IVP and/or an associated instructor learns about it.
